

STELLA MARIS

1964

Patricia Mc Mullen

Dear Pat,
I'm very glad that we sat
next to each other in home-
room this year.
I really got to know what a real nice girl
you are. See you in homeroom
next year.

Love
Barbara.

Nil Sine Numine

NOTHING WITHOUT DIVINE GUIDANCE

As Students of St. Dominic High
We have found a guiding light.
Our motto, Nil Sine Numine,
Leads us through the night.

The night of trials each must endure
To form a soul complete;
The Guidance which Our Lord imparts
Protects us from defeat.

Patty,
Best of luck to
a real sweet girl.
Remember all the fun we had this year and now
you get to go from home
the more maybe miss
I'll give it to you.
See ya soon,
Love,
Sue

life is changed, not taken away; and when the abode of this earthly sojourn is destroyed, an eternal dwelling is prepared in heaven.

In Memoriam

ROBERT JUSTINGER

CLASS OF 1964

Father Soave and senior altar boys pause before Mary's shrine.

SPIRITUAL ACTIVITIES

Christ the King extends His hands in blessing to the students of Saint Dominic for the homage they have paid to Him.

The grandeur of Christ's majesty was accentuated by the impressive crowning of our Redeemer as King. The object of this ceremony was to emphasize Our Lord's authority to rule all nations, and to establish the peace of Christ in the Kingdom of Christ.

Student Council President, Robert Groppe, solemnly places the crown on the statue of Christ the King.

Senior boys form a living cross during the Christ the King ceremony.

James Smith carries the symbol of Christendom as the student body assembles for Christ the King ceremony.

Students praise their King with hymns and prayers.

JaAnne Barrett, Nancy Horan, John Barry, Mary Hughes, Philip Wendoloski, Richard Rogo, Edward Aulman, and Marian Pardo, who are members of the various mission clubs, scan the globe to understand better the mission lands about which they are studying.

CSMC

The Procession starts for the initiation ceremony for new members of the CSMC.

Honor guard escorts unpledged freshmen to initiation ceremony.

CSMC leaders, John DiLillo, Susan Bracken, Marian Pardo, Edward Aulman, William Boslet, Michael Doody, Mary Hughes, Judy Hiross and Carl Menieri prepare to officiate at CSMC initiation.

MAY CROWNING

During the May Crowning, Joseph Bozzello and John Sordi prepare the altar for Benediction.

Our May Queen kneels in prayer before the coronation.

Senior honor guard, in colorful spring dresses, adds beauty to this prayerful ceremony.

Father Casey blesses the rings before their distribution to the Senior Class.

BLESSING OF CLASS RINGS

Bill Van Nostrand decides that there is no comparison between his much coveted Senior ring and the cardboard model. Bob Groppe, Joanne Welch and Mary Zimmer, likewise, beam their approval.

Susan Low, Patricia Reilly, Ann Schmidt, Sandra Miller and Jeanne Parker beam their delight as they display the symbol of their seniority.

Mingled feelings of joy and sadness permeated the seniors' spirit during the impressive ring ceremony. The rings symbolized seniority and dignity yet, they also reminded the seniors that their last days at Saint Dominic's were quickly slipping by.

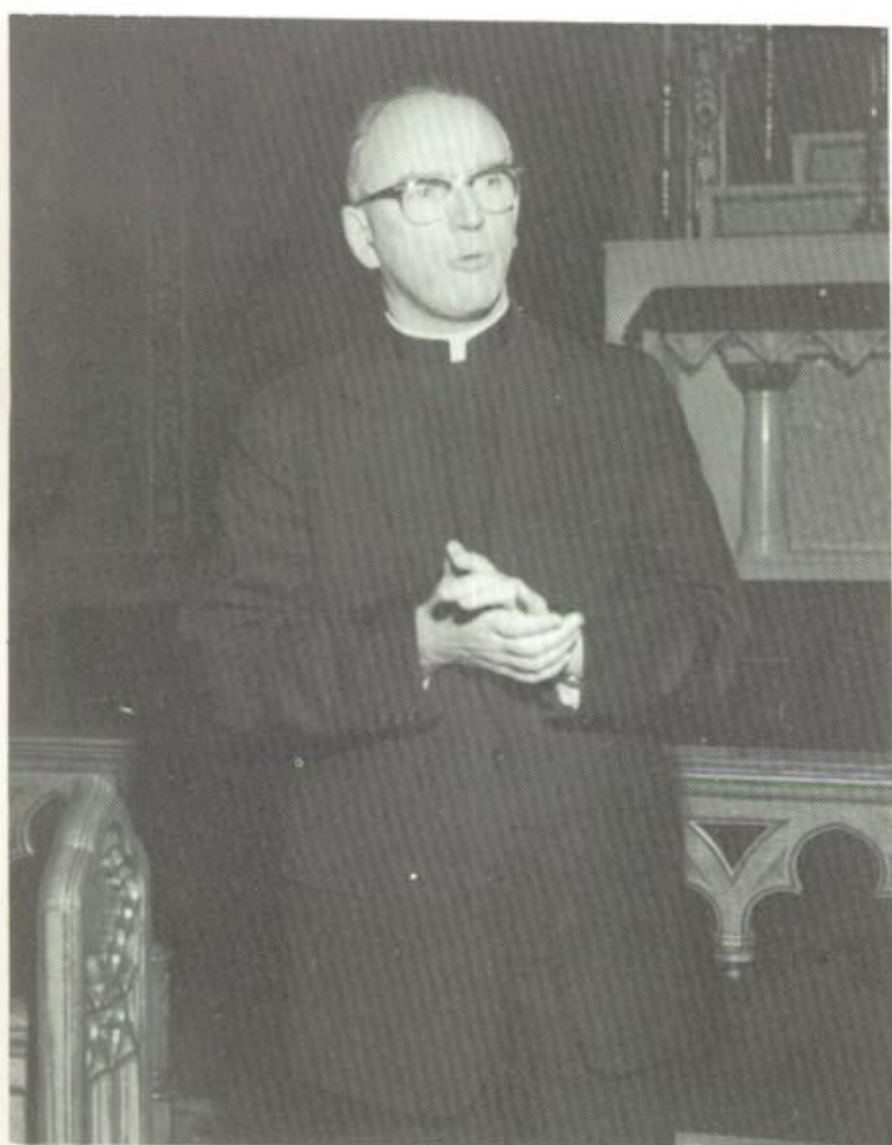

Michael Abbene, John Sordi, James Miley and Raymond Alberto proudly display their Senior rings.

Surprise snapshot displays happy faces in Senior II following ring ceremony.

Attentive students listen to Father Garvey's words.

Father Justin Garvey, C. P.

Father Garvey who spent four years in solitary confinement in a Chinese Communist prison learned, through personal experiences, the horror of Communism.

Father Justin Garvey, C. P. an alumnus of Saint Dominic, inspired the Juniors and Seniors with his talk about the missionary lands of China and the Philippines.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is an integral part of our school. To members of this unit has been entrusted the responsibility of molding a bridge of understanding between the faculty and the students. Each representative has been chosen for his ability to lead others.

Student Council officers, Jo Anne Barrett — Vice President, Robert Groppe, President, Grace Sullivan, Treasurer and Peter Donnelly, Secretary meet to discuss current school problems and forthcoming events.

Student Council members from the Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes assemble for a regular meeting.

"No talking, keep in line." Student Council leaders, Richard Balsam, James Smith, Patricia Regan and Richard Rogo maintain law and order in the halls.

Mrs. Walsh gives a permission slip to Ed McCafferty and Bill Tedesco before they set out with Mr. DiLillo to take pictures for Stella Maris.

STELLA MARIS

The Stella Maris is produced annually by the combined efforts and talents of the staff. It is their aim to produce a yearbook, of which the school will be proud.

With organization, ingenuity and the guidance of the moderator, Sr. M. Terentia, we have produced what we hope will be a lasting contribution to our classmates and our school.

Stella Maris staff members are deep in thought as they write captions for the yearbook pictures.

"On to the Physics Lab!" Ed McCafferty and Bill Tedesco map out the route for Mr. DiLillo, the school photographer.

If in doubt, consult the authority. Ray Alberto discusses a difficulty with moderator, Sr. M. Terentia.

Inspired senior minds conspire as staff members choose pictures.

l. to r.: Mary Bethford, Nancy Horan, Anne Waish, Mary Ellen Walsh, James Mahoney, Editor, Joan Falkowski, Rosemary Burke, Editor, Betty Lane, Jeanne Parker.

Joan Falkowski, art editor of Stella Maris, ponders a design problem.

Members of Torch staff: Mary Sullivan, Jeanne Parker, Kathleen Vaughan, Joan Falkowski, Eileen Giaconia, Elizabeth Lang, Mary Ellen Walsh, and Terrence Pommett are intent as they check the galley sheets for possible errors.

Mary Ellen Walsh, Terrence Pommett, and Elizabeth Lang plan the third issue of Torch.

"Editing a paper can be fun," proves to be true for Jeanne Parker, Terrence Pommett, Joan Falkowski, Elizabeth Lang and Mary Ellen Walsh.

JOHN F. KENNEDY
1917 - 1963

TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY

The sorrow and horror resulting from the tragic assassination of John F. Kennedy were unparalleled by any single act of this century. Here was a great leader, a loving father, and a loyal husband. Here, also, was one of the greatest champions of international peace and brotherhood. Yet, through a most dastardly crime, life was snatched from him.

John F. Kennedy was a true PRESIDENT OF THE PEOPLE. He appealed to the younger generation because of his own youthfulness and ambitions for the young. He was unfaltering in his stand for higher education. Knowing too, that a sound mind must have a healthy body, he organized and advanced the "Council on Youth Fitness."

Probably the most outstanding opportunity he gave American youth to express their patriotism and brotherly love was his initiation of the Peace Corps. In honor of the late President, this organization will soon be recognized as the Kennedy Corps.

President Kennedy's life was one of love and devotion to both God and Country. In his Inaugural Address his vibrant appeal to the nation was, "Ask not what your country can do for you, but rather what you can do for your country." Equally famous were his words to a reporter when asked if he prayed often. He answered, "Yes. I get down on my knees every night before bed."

In President Kennedy's demise the world has suffered an irreparable loss.

AMERICAN DIETA

NOVEMBER 22, 1963

SISTER M. LAURENA "I.H.M."

AMONG THE BOOKS

Everyone in the library looks busy! John Rafferty and Billy Martinetti hunt for books, Marian Pardo and Terry Pommert scan the newspapers, and the others complete a reference assignment.

Mrs. Spelshouse suggests to Mr. O'Hara that he have his pupils listen to the new Physics records.

Mrs. Spelshouse warns Billy Bruckner, Joe A. Mahoney and Dottie Schreiber to return their books on time or pay a fine.

In Sister Pierre's office, the students can always find guidance in the difficult choice of a college or a career, Sister is ever ready to answer queries on guidance matters.

"For Thou art my rock and my stronghold, and for Thy name's sake Thou wilt lead me and guide me."

PS. 30, 4

"Nothing without Divine Guidance," Sister Pierre keeps the school motto constantly before her as she gives advice to William Martinetti.

"Maybe there's a chance for me," sighs Jo Anne Barrett to Charles Patak.

GUIDANCE

William Halliday and Joseph Mahony peruse college catalogues while Mrs. Nimnich obligingly assists.

It's 2 p.m., feeding time for our youthful frosh.

Mary Zimmer is serious as freshman "escort" guides her across the gym.

FRESHMAN INITIATION

Jerry Mahony believes that freshman baby-bottle contest winner, Ray Devlin, deserves a carriage ride.

"I Could Have Danced All Night." Seniors "honor" frosh as their partners for the opening dance.

R. Rogo, J. Smith, C. Patak, P. Barnett, and Jerry Mahony are amused by Ray Alberto's "antics."

Joe Brennan casts a watchful eye on John Murphy who has a "head on" lead.

VARSITY DANCE

Dancers stop, enthralled, as Louie Capozzoli (back to camera) sings.

Edward Kilgus and Robert Groppe greet John Robinson and his "date."

Latin II and III students prove that "popular songs" can be latinized.

Margaret Olson, Angel; Patricia Regan, Blessed Virgin and Joseph Bozzello, Saint Joseph, adore the Divine Infant.

During the Christmas tableau, Barbara Sheehan introduced narrators, John Robinson, Emily Schanzer, Wayne Kinch, (who rendered the Christmas story in English, Spanish and French respectively). William Tedesco recited a dramatic monologue, "The Present," and Roseann Schifano read a poem about Christmas eve.

"SIX WISE MEN"

French III group carry lighted flashlights while singing French carols.

CHRISTMAS ASSEMBLY

Sister Rose Teresa directs the chorus as "Sleigh Bells" ring out.

Father Short, Father Casey, and Father Harter enjoy the colorfully lighted tableau.

JUNIOR PROM

John Rafferty, Donna Izzo, Denise Barnett, Bob Young, Joan Falkowski, Kevin Robb, Therese Brennick, and Ed Kilgus enjoy the quip that Kilgus has tossed at Bob.

For three years we had looked forward to our Junior Prom. At last, the magic hours arrived! A beautiful setting, happy couples, music, exquisite gowns, all contributed to make the evening unforgettable — one of joy. It was as if one would say, "In Thee nothing disturbs our joy."

HEART HOP

Father Soave crowns Seniors Lis Staab and Joe Mahoney as Queen and King of the Heart Hop. The other candidates: Kathy McMullen, Ann Purcell, Candy Davi, Jack Hanifan, Andy Prosowski, and Pat Kelly, look on.

The King and Queen lead the dancing at the 1964 Heart Hop, held to raise money for our Athletic Association.

ALL ABOARD FOR THE OPERA!

Al Messina clutches his lunch as Lisbeth Staab and Jeannette Abbene lead the group into the bus.

School life is supplemented by an occasional "field trip." Students gladly welcome the opportunity to expand their horizons. Here they are pictured before they depart for New York City to witness a performance of Verdi's "Rigoletto."

Bill Halliday enjoys fresh air and the opera.

PRESS CONFERENCE

Aspiring journalists pose before boarding the bus for Fordham.

About fifty students interested in Journalism attended the annual Catholic Press Conference held at Fordham. There "the experts" explained the intricacies of layout, editorial writing, feature stories and captions.

Added to the intellectual aspect, was the spiritual — a noon-day Mass. A social hour of dancing followed.

Newspaper and Yearbook Staffs relax before starting.

Hungry seniors Edward Aulman, William Brueckner, Donald Brown, John Barry and Linda Bourne scrutinize the menu; Timothy Drumm, Terrence Pommert, Paul Cicarelli, and John Hanley have reached the serving stage.

"Oh that cavity!" groans John Murphy. Thomas Haley, Louis Capozzoli, Joseph Brennan, John Sordi, Stephen Lehmann, Bruce Cook, Peter Cherry, Philip Wendoloski, and Edward Aulman show little sympathy, while Michael Grace opposite Murphy sips his drink wholly unconcerned.

Margaret Olson, Roseann Schifano register surprise when the bulb flashes as Barbara Csajko prepares to leave. Mary Gander, Elizabeth Schreiber and Jeanne Parker were caught off guard.

LINE FORMS TO THE RIGHT IN CAFETERIA!

"An apple a day is what growing boys need," says Edward Aulman. However, Louis Capozzoli beat him to it. Joseph Brennan, Maureen Birmingham, Joann Visslailli, Anne Byrne and Joanne Scheid hope that Stephen Hickey will wait for his turn.

Louie Capozzoli is "Queen for a Day."

Girls join in the fun.

SENIORS ENJOY AFTER-LUNCH RECREATION

Don Brown (center facing camera) is the "goat" of this escapade.

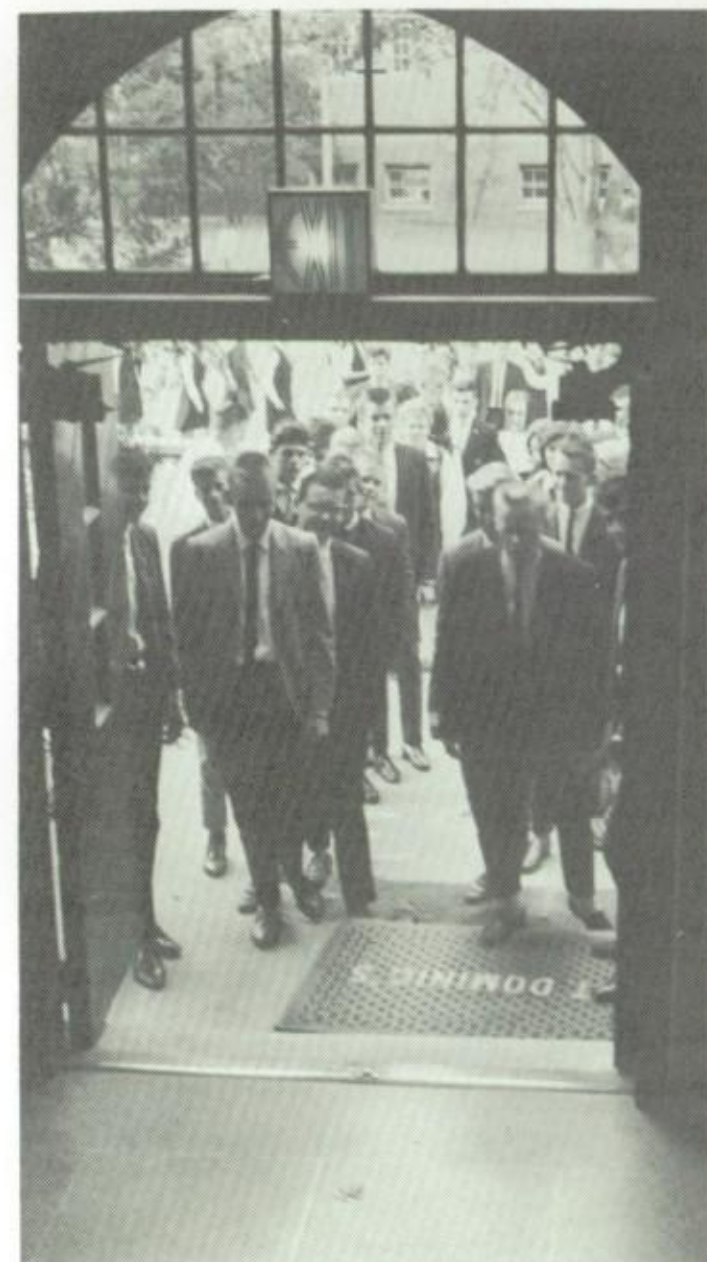

Watch your step! You're on Candid Camera! Students obey fire bell promptly.

"It is a great gift to be under sure, strong guidance and to feel in it so to say the hand and arm of God."

BISHOP PROHASZKA,

FIRE DRILL!

"Boy! All that drill and no fire!"

"Who rang that bell?" is in the students minds as they return to their classes.

"O guide our minds with Thy blest light!"

CLASSES

No time for a "coffee-break" for Father Soave's Religion class.

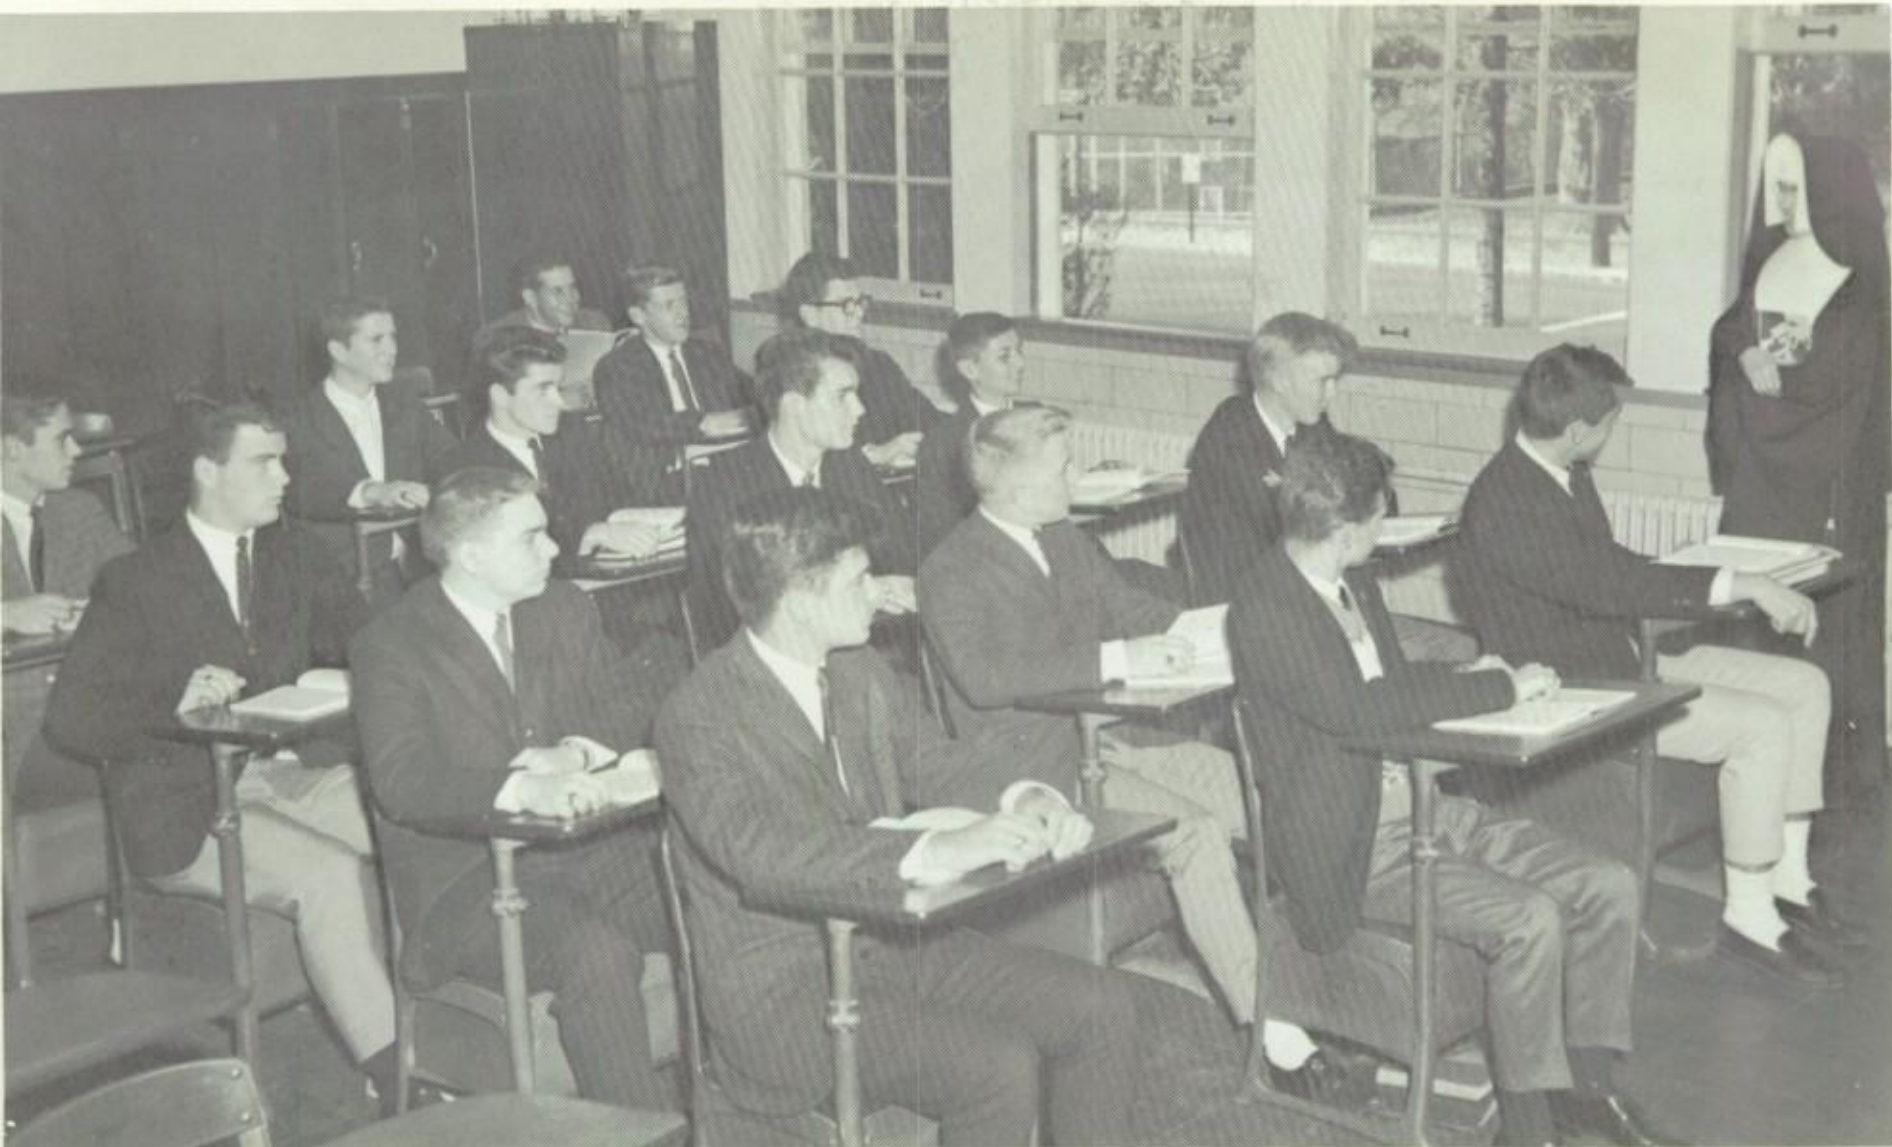

The modern world, steeped in restlessness, immorality, and vice has little interest in religious training of youth. "Realism" is the order of the day; spirituality and a right sense of values seem to have been relegated to oblivion.

In such an entangled world, the Catholic's mission is to inspire men with a reverential fear of God and also respect for His laws. Consequently, the curriculum at St. Dominic endeavors to inculcate Religion as a guiding spirit for our lives. Much time is spent in studying the proper preparation for marriage. Thus, the students should go forth with a spiritual motivation to combat the evils of divorce and unfaithfulness which are eating at the very heart of our society.

RELIGION CLASSES

Sister Pierre gets various reactions from this group.

No marriage problems here, Sister Pierre. Confirmed bachelors stare at you

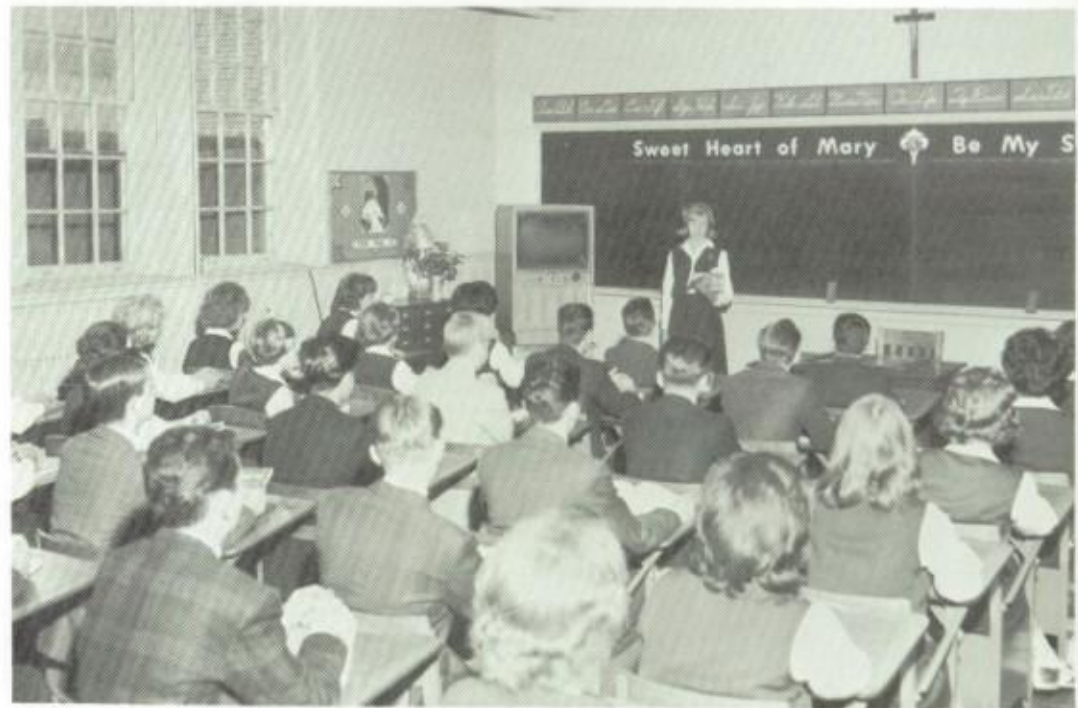

"I never saw Ward McCue so engrossed before," said Sister Terentia.

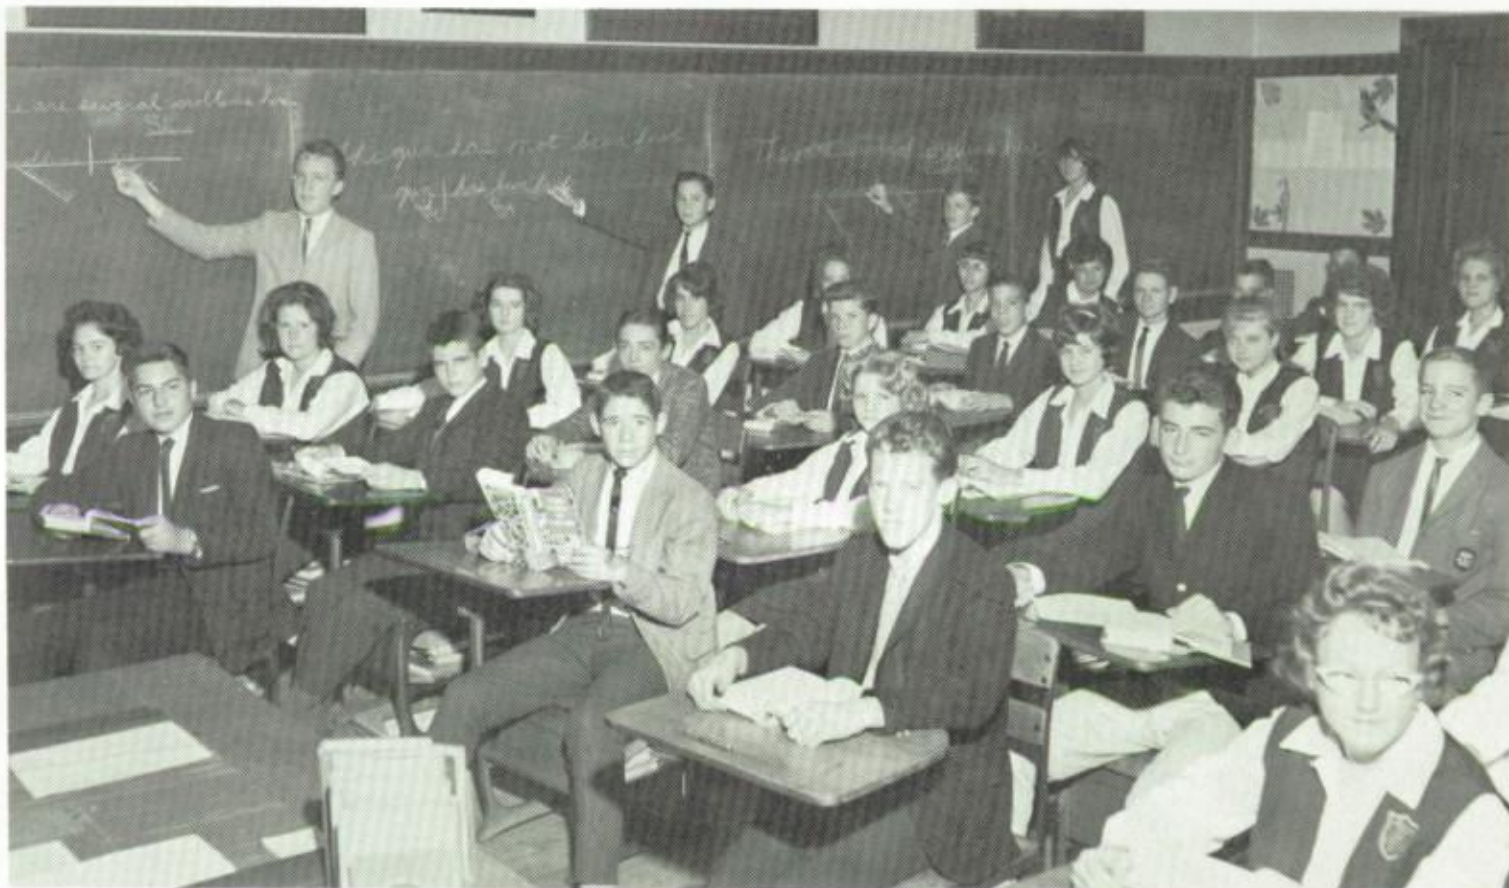

ENGLISH

"As seen through a glass faintly . . ." Third period English IV students are intent on The Canterbury Tales.

Susan Deecken briefs Sister Gaudentia's English class before their TV production.

Diagrams challenge Freshman V during English class.

Seniors, J. Mahoney, E. Schanzer, S. Staneski, and M. Sullivan make Sister Terentia's magazine rack their "second home."

An extensive course of English grammar and literature is provided for the students of Saint Dominic. Freshman year brings the mechanics of grammar and the use of the library to the students.

Silas Marner, the unfortunate miser, captures the interest of the Sophomores, as they delve more into literature.

Junior year brings preparation for English Regents. A thorough study of grammar, vocabulary, literature, reading comprehension, and compositions satiate these classes.

Finally Senior year, with its study of English literature, acquaints the students with Beowulf, and Shakespeare's Macbeth. In a word, the fourth year course delves into all periods of English writing.

Another book report's due! A. Walsh, Mary Beth Ford, W. Brueckner, T. Pommert, K. Vaughan, J. Barry, and B. Sheehan flock to that mecca of English literature, Sister Terentia's bookshelves.

FORENSIC LEAGUE

Freshman Class members of the Forensic League.

Mary Ellen Burns' expressive hands give emphasis to her speech, "Our Faith Is the Future", delivered at the Christmas assembly.

Thomas Mammen displays the style and confidence which helped him to win first place in the district American Legion Oratorical Contest. His topic was "Our Constitution — Our Defense".

Affirmative debaters, Stephen Gietschier and Timothy Daly show concern as negative opponent, Thomas Mammen, breaks through their case. Colleague George Braue beams approval.

The Seniors are practicing the Mass which they will sing on Graduation Day.

MUSIC

The Freshman Class listens intently as Sister Rose Teresa teaches them how to sing the Mass.

Senior girls take an active part in the weekly singing where chant, folk songs, and classical numbers are taught.

Graduation ceremonies were enhanced by the contributions of the Glee Club under the able supervision of Sister Rose Teresa.

Thomas Liston explains the fundamentals of Shorthand to eager Juniors and Seniors.

Clerical workers: M. Conry, M. Renna, C. Fitzsimmons, B. Royce, A. McEvoy, L. Reider, A. Gould, and P. Fahey deliver their finished product to each home room.

Joe Boccuzzi, on the left, seems to have lost his power of concentration which is "a must" for good typing.

Commercial students, M. Conry, D. Barnett, A. McEvoy, and B. Royce stop at our photographer, Mr. DiLillo's studio to admire their classmates' pictures and to "pick up" their pictures.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

The fundamentals of shorthand, typing and business administration taught at Saint Dominic's prepare youthful aspirants for careers in the business world and civil service.

During their courses they are afforded ample opportunity to use machines similar to those which they will be required to operate during their future employment.

Conscientious Shorthand II students take down Sister Mary Carmel's "never ending" dictation.

World History comes alive for the Sophomores as Mr. Reffelt explains its development step by step.

HISTORY

CLASSES

The seeds of our American heritage are sown in the Junior class. These students are viewing films of important historical events.

Joseph Brennen points to the Security Council, an integral part of the United Nations, as Mike Moffett, Joseph Butler, Paula Adams, Elizabeth Lang, JoAnn Barrett, John Barry, William Rice, and Peter Cherry celebrate United Nations Day.

The Senior History class scans "Our Times" for important information to supplement their history course.

Freshman II Social Studies group enjoy Sister Teresa's lecture.

Anne Byrne, Donald Brown, Henry Butehorn, and Paul Cicarelli discuss the effects of the Ecumenical Council on world history. Anne and Donald have no "eyes for the camera."

"In eastern France . . ." John Barry explains the surface features of France as French III students, Susan DeVito, Margaret Olson, Donald Brown and Sandra Miller look on.

John Bowman and Jane Rothmann enact a playlet to eager French I students.

Through the study of French, students learn, not only the mechanics of the language, but also, French culture and history. By using records, magazines and newspapers, they absorb important information about France while enjoying their work.

In addition, the monthly meeting of the French Circle, enables its members to enjoy songs, skits and discussions concerning France and her people.

French Circle officers: Mary Sullivan, Jean Parker, and Barbara Sheehan discuss the first issue of the "Le Petit Journal" with its co-editors, Terrence Pommett and Donald Brown.

Ann Byrne, Maureen Birmingham, Wayne Kinch, Peter Cherry, William Rice, Elizabeth Lang, JoAnn Barrett, Sharon Staneski, Elizabeth Schreiber, and Mary Hughes, members of the French Circle, enjoy reading the provocative Paris Match.

Joanne Welsch, Joseph E. Mahony, Lisbeth Staab, Paul Hessel and Eileen Henderson listen to the audio-lingual method as Joe Bozzello operates the machine.

Senior French students (left to right) John Murphy, Barbara Lozier, Dottie Schreiber, Stephen Hickey, Bill Brueckner, John Sordi, Steve Lehmann, Pat Barnett, Joanne Scheid, Josephine Kelly and Bruce Cook listen attentively and somewhat dubiously to a French record. Joanne seems to think it's quite funny, while John Sordi is obviously absorbing every word.

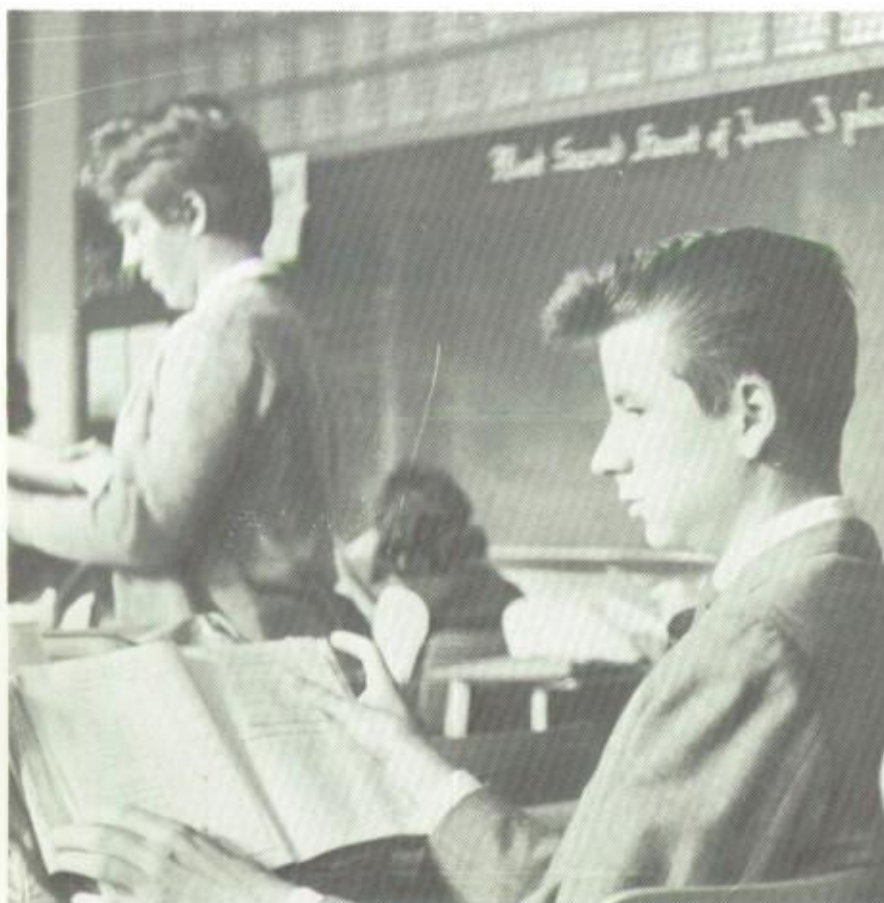

Future scientists R. Shady, E. Kilgus, A. Messina, M. Moffet, K. Robb, and R. Alberto, aided by Mr. O'Hara, observe the operation of the inclined plane during physics laboratory.

COURSES IN VARIOUS FIELDS OF SCIENCE ARE OFFERED AT SAINT DOMINIC.

W. Brueckner, T. Daly, J. Miley, D. Schreiber, K. Vaughan, J. Mahoney, intent physicists, observe the activity of the needle on a Geiger counter.

Joe Brennan prepares for a physics test.

"All I did was nearly blow up the lab," says Paul Cicarelli dejectedly.

Mr. McCorry points out on the biological chart that water will seek its own level, regardless of the shape of the container.

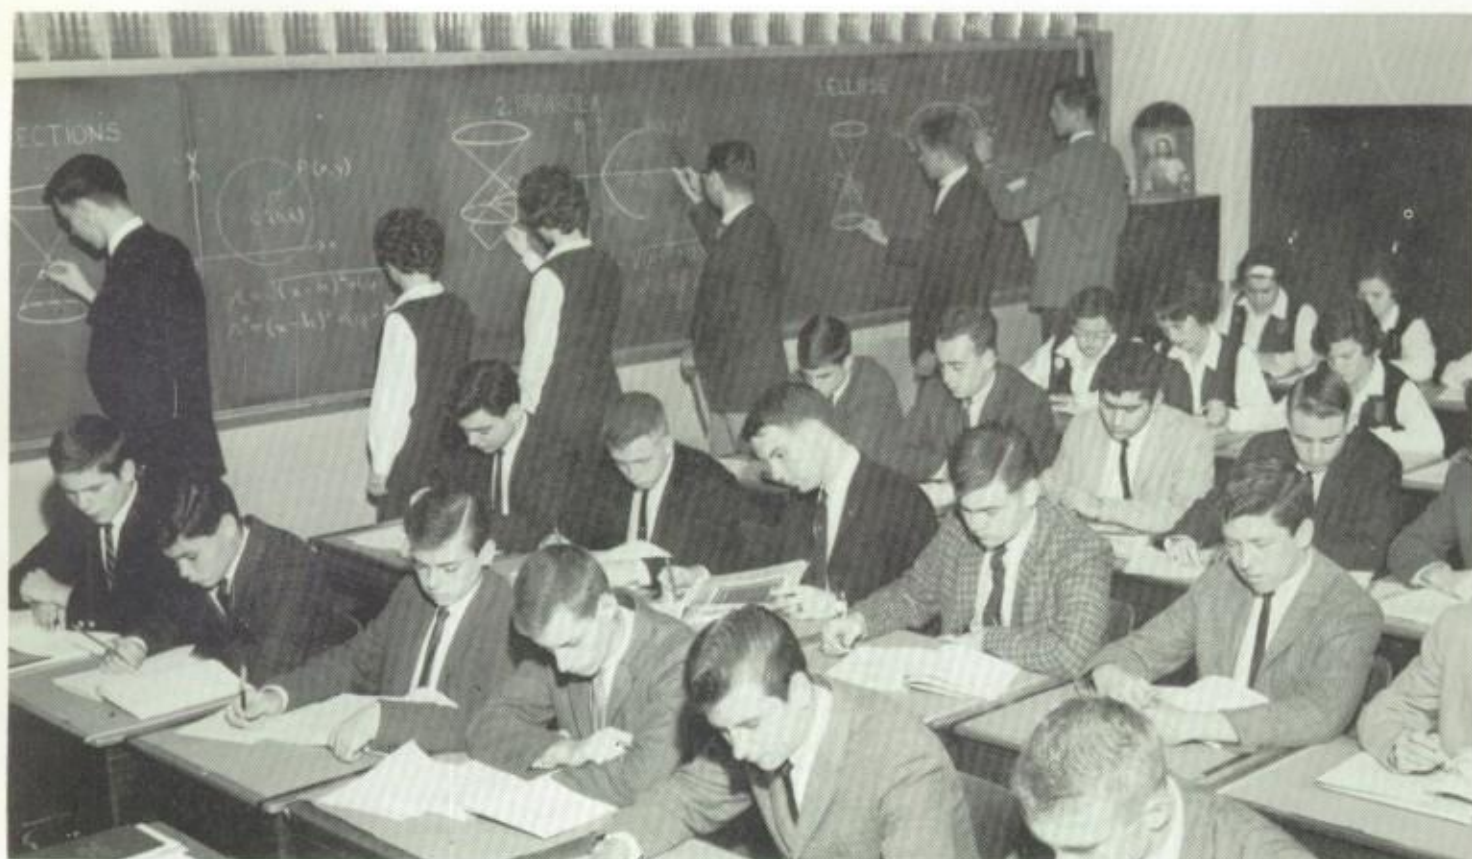

Bernadette Moore, Adele Lewinski, Sue Beyer, John Bodner, Maureen Healy, and Francis Devine concentrate on examining specimens of the phases of mitosis.

M A T H

Advanced Math students concentrate on basic problems in conic sections.

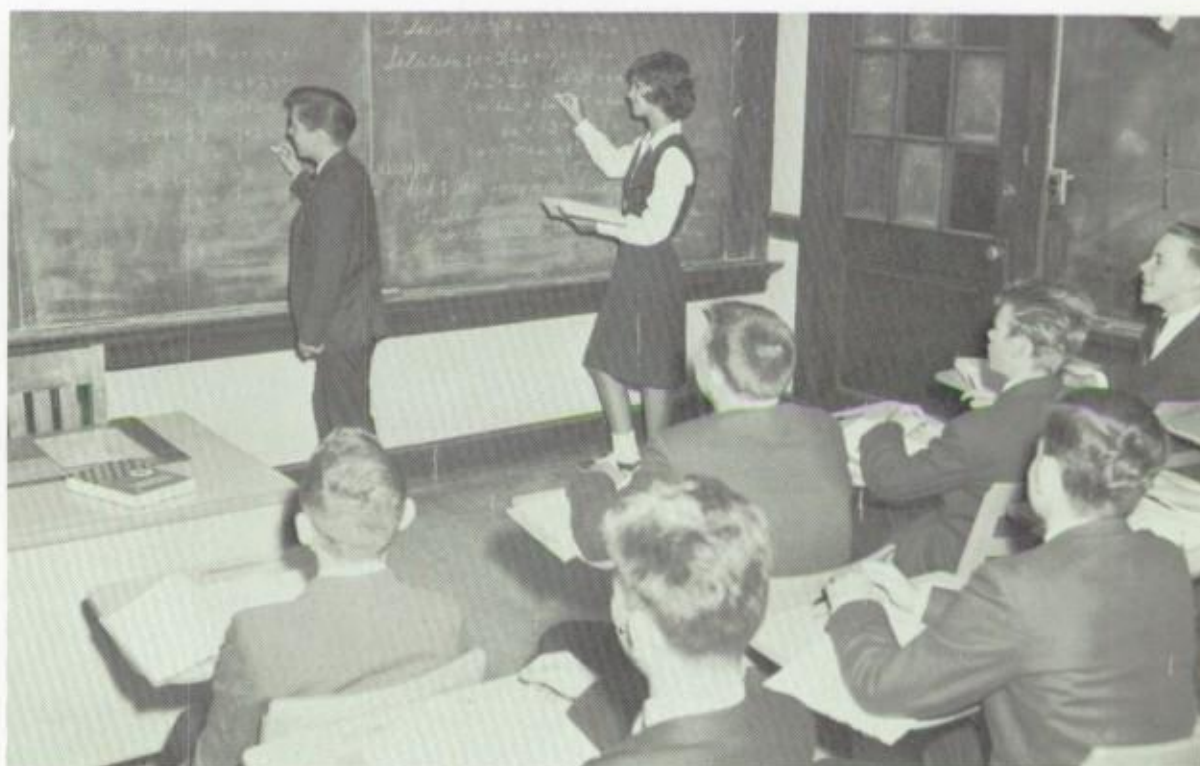

The best way to learn about something is to be it. Thomas Dooney, center, explains locus problems to the Geometry class.

Coordinates and Systems in Space seemed easy to the Juniors after Peter Biasi explained the chart.

Math students live in a world of their own — a world haunted by radicals, integers, exponents and permutations. Through the study of Mathematics, they learn to apply methods and logic to everyday and unusual problems.

Let x equal the unknown. What unknown? Solving equations is "a cinch" for adept Freshmen.

Officers of the Mathletes plan for their next meet to be held at St. Dominic's. They are for the Varsity: Donald Scala, Captain; Edward Aulman, Co-Captain; Marian Pardo, Manager and Elizabeth Schreiber, Student Council Representative. Officers for the Junior Varsity are: Katherine Kelly, Captain; Brenda Moore, Co-Captain and Thomas Dooney, Manager.

"I fear the Greeks even bearing gifts," says Donald Brown to Joe Boccuzzi as Latin IV students Kathleen Vaughan, Ed Kilgus, Jo-Anne Barrett and Denise Barnett translate the Fall of Troy.

Two well-dressed Romans, Edward Aulman and William Tedesco, arrive at the Town House for the Roman Banquet.

John DiLillo pours the libation during the Roman Banquet.

Michael Abbene demonstrates the effectiveness of his latest model catapult to toga-garbed seniors: Constance Biasi, Grace Keane, Lorraine Clew, Nancy Horan, Mary Gander, Thomas Mammen, and Joan Falkowski.

Latin IV students Edith Smith, Janes Mahoney, William Tedesco, Robert Groppe examine one of the projects for the Latin Exhibit.

ALIVE!

Mr. Ebbets teaches how "tense signs" are added to "stems" to form new tenses.

Syntax? One must think — and think — and think!

Will the real Picasso, please, stand!

A R T

Art students, Peggy Olson and Lorraine Clew display their handiwork in ceramics.

Art III Students work conscientiously in their course on block printing.

Do we notice some blossoming architects in this Mechanical Drawing I class?

The Art department of Saint Dominic's under the guidance of Sister M. Laurena, offers a varied and extensive program. Art students become familiar with the traditional art of the great masters and the modern work of our contemporaries. In addition, a Senior Art Club, "The Palettes" further encourages the creative ability of the students.

One of St. Dominic's famous art students, Joan Falkowski, decorates Sister Terentia's bulletin board.

"The best laid plans of mice and men . . ."

"1 . . . 2 . . . 3 . . . 4" Freshman girls under the direction of Mrs. Greene participate in invigorating calisthenics.

GYM

Tumbling Boys. Once over and ready for more, is Joe Beraducci as anxious gymnasts wait their turn.

Under the direction of the Gym Teacher, Mr. Kaiser, Joseph Hendrickson demonstrates the art of vaulting. Joseph Boccuzzi and Edward Aulman stand ready to assist.

William Martinetti, William Van Nostrand, John Hanley, Joseph Hendrickson, Paul Hessel, Peter Clancy, George Maher, Joseph Beraducci and Edward Aulman watch intently as Tim Drumm and Joseph Boccuzzi do hand stands during Gym Class.

Who's on top? Bill Martinetti and Joseph Hendrickson try to pin each other while Paul Hessel, Bill Van Nostrand, George Maher, Pete Clancy, John Hanley, Joe Boccuzzi, Tom Liston, Joe Beraducci, Ed Aulman, Bob Dippi, Mike Doody, Paul Russell shout encouragement to their favorite.

The ball is up and "jumping" George Maher gets tap as Bill Martinetti and Joe Hendrickson are ready to converge on the ball.

George Maher delights in "spilling" John Hanley as Mr. Kaiser referees.

"Sink that ball," shout Robert Dippi and William Van Nostrand as William Martinetti pauses before he shoots.

Terrence Pommett receives the Paragon Oil Incentive Award from Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson.

Seniors Margaret Olson and Thomas Mammen explain their trophy-winning techniques to Forensic Club members.

SPORTS

GUARDIANS OF THE GRID

Coaches Tom and Lou Capozzoli, Moffett, and Conklin give Co-Captains Brueckner and Sordi last minute instructions.

Who needs rockets? Bill Brueckner flies without them.

This year St. Dominic's football team left its mark on the Catholic High School Football League. Having taken their dose of defeat since football was re-established at St. Dominic's, this year's team chalked up what was for them, an impressive record. Though they were not the League champions, they showed the spirit and determination which helped them to overcome favored adversaries.

"I don't care. It's my football and I'm going." Hemgen tries to evade tacklers.

Sordi plunges through Wheatley defenses for a touchdown.

George Haubenreich strains for extra yardage on the quarterback's rollout as the last defender makes a decisive tackle.

Bill Cox plunges for seven yards as blockers and tacklers pile up in his wake.

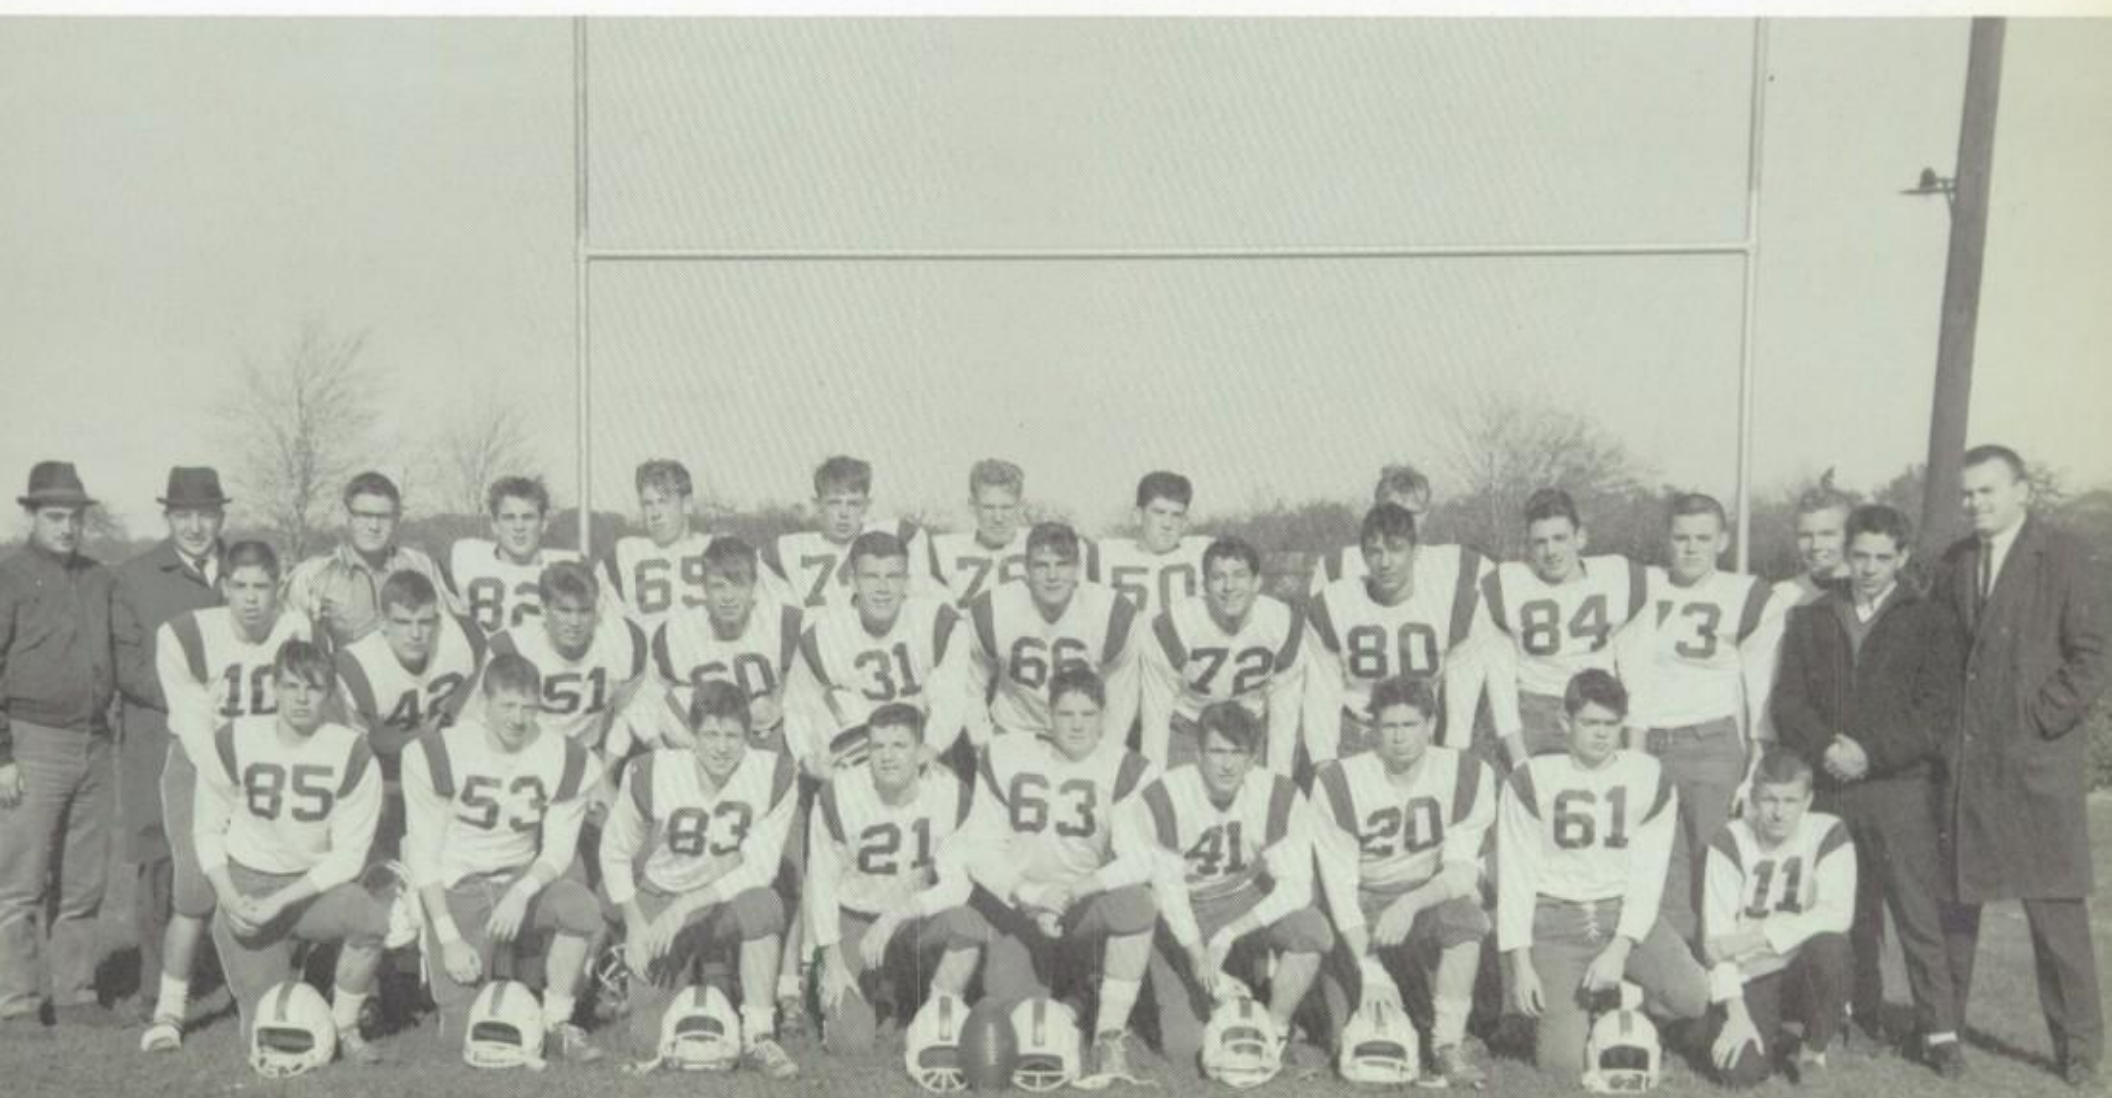

Steve Hemgen sweeps around the end.

John Sordi tries to squirm out of a pair of grasping hands as two more opponents approach to "finish off."

PEP RALLY

Saint Mary's football players, impersonated by Joseph Mahony, Tom Mammen, Ray Alberto and Bill Halliday, have made a slight mistake—they brought a basketball instead of a football.

Sisters Cornelian, Gaudentia and Raphael join with the students to cheer the team during the pep rally.

"Don't get carried away" remarks Al Kidmore to Ray Alberto as John Robinson and Joseph Mahoney gave him a free ride.

The fun reached its climax during the pep rally as a mock football game was played between Saint Dominic's and Saint Mary's.

SOUTH PACIFIC

The cast for this year's production of "South Pacific" rehearsed diligently from March to May. Father Soave's efforts to put on a "really big show" made the hard work worthwhile.

No show would be complete without the assistance of the director, Father Soave and his associates: Mr. Pryor, piano, Mrs. Reese, Mr. McMullen, Mr. Martinetti, script, and Miss Terry Messera, the choreographer.

Donna Izzo, Jeanne Barrett, Joan Falkowski, Eleanor Barnett, Lis Staab, Susan Lee, and JoAnne Barrett are lending their support to "Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair."

Seniors proceed to Saint Dominic Church for Graduation Mass.

While applauding their fellow classmates, the graduates reflect on their past four years at Saint Dominic's.

GRADUATION - 1964

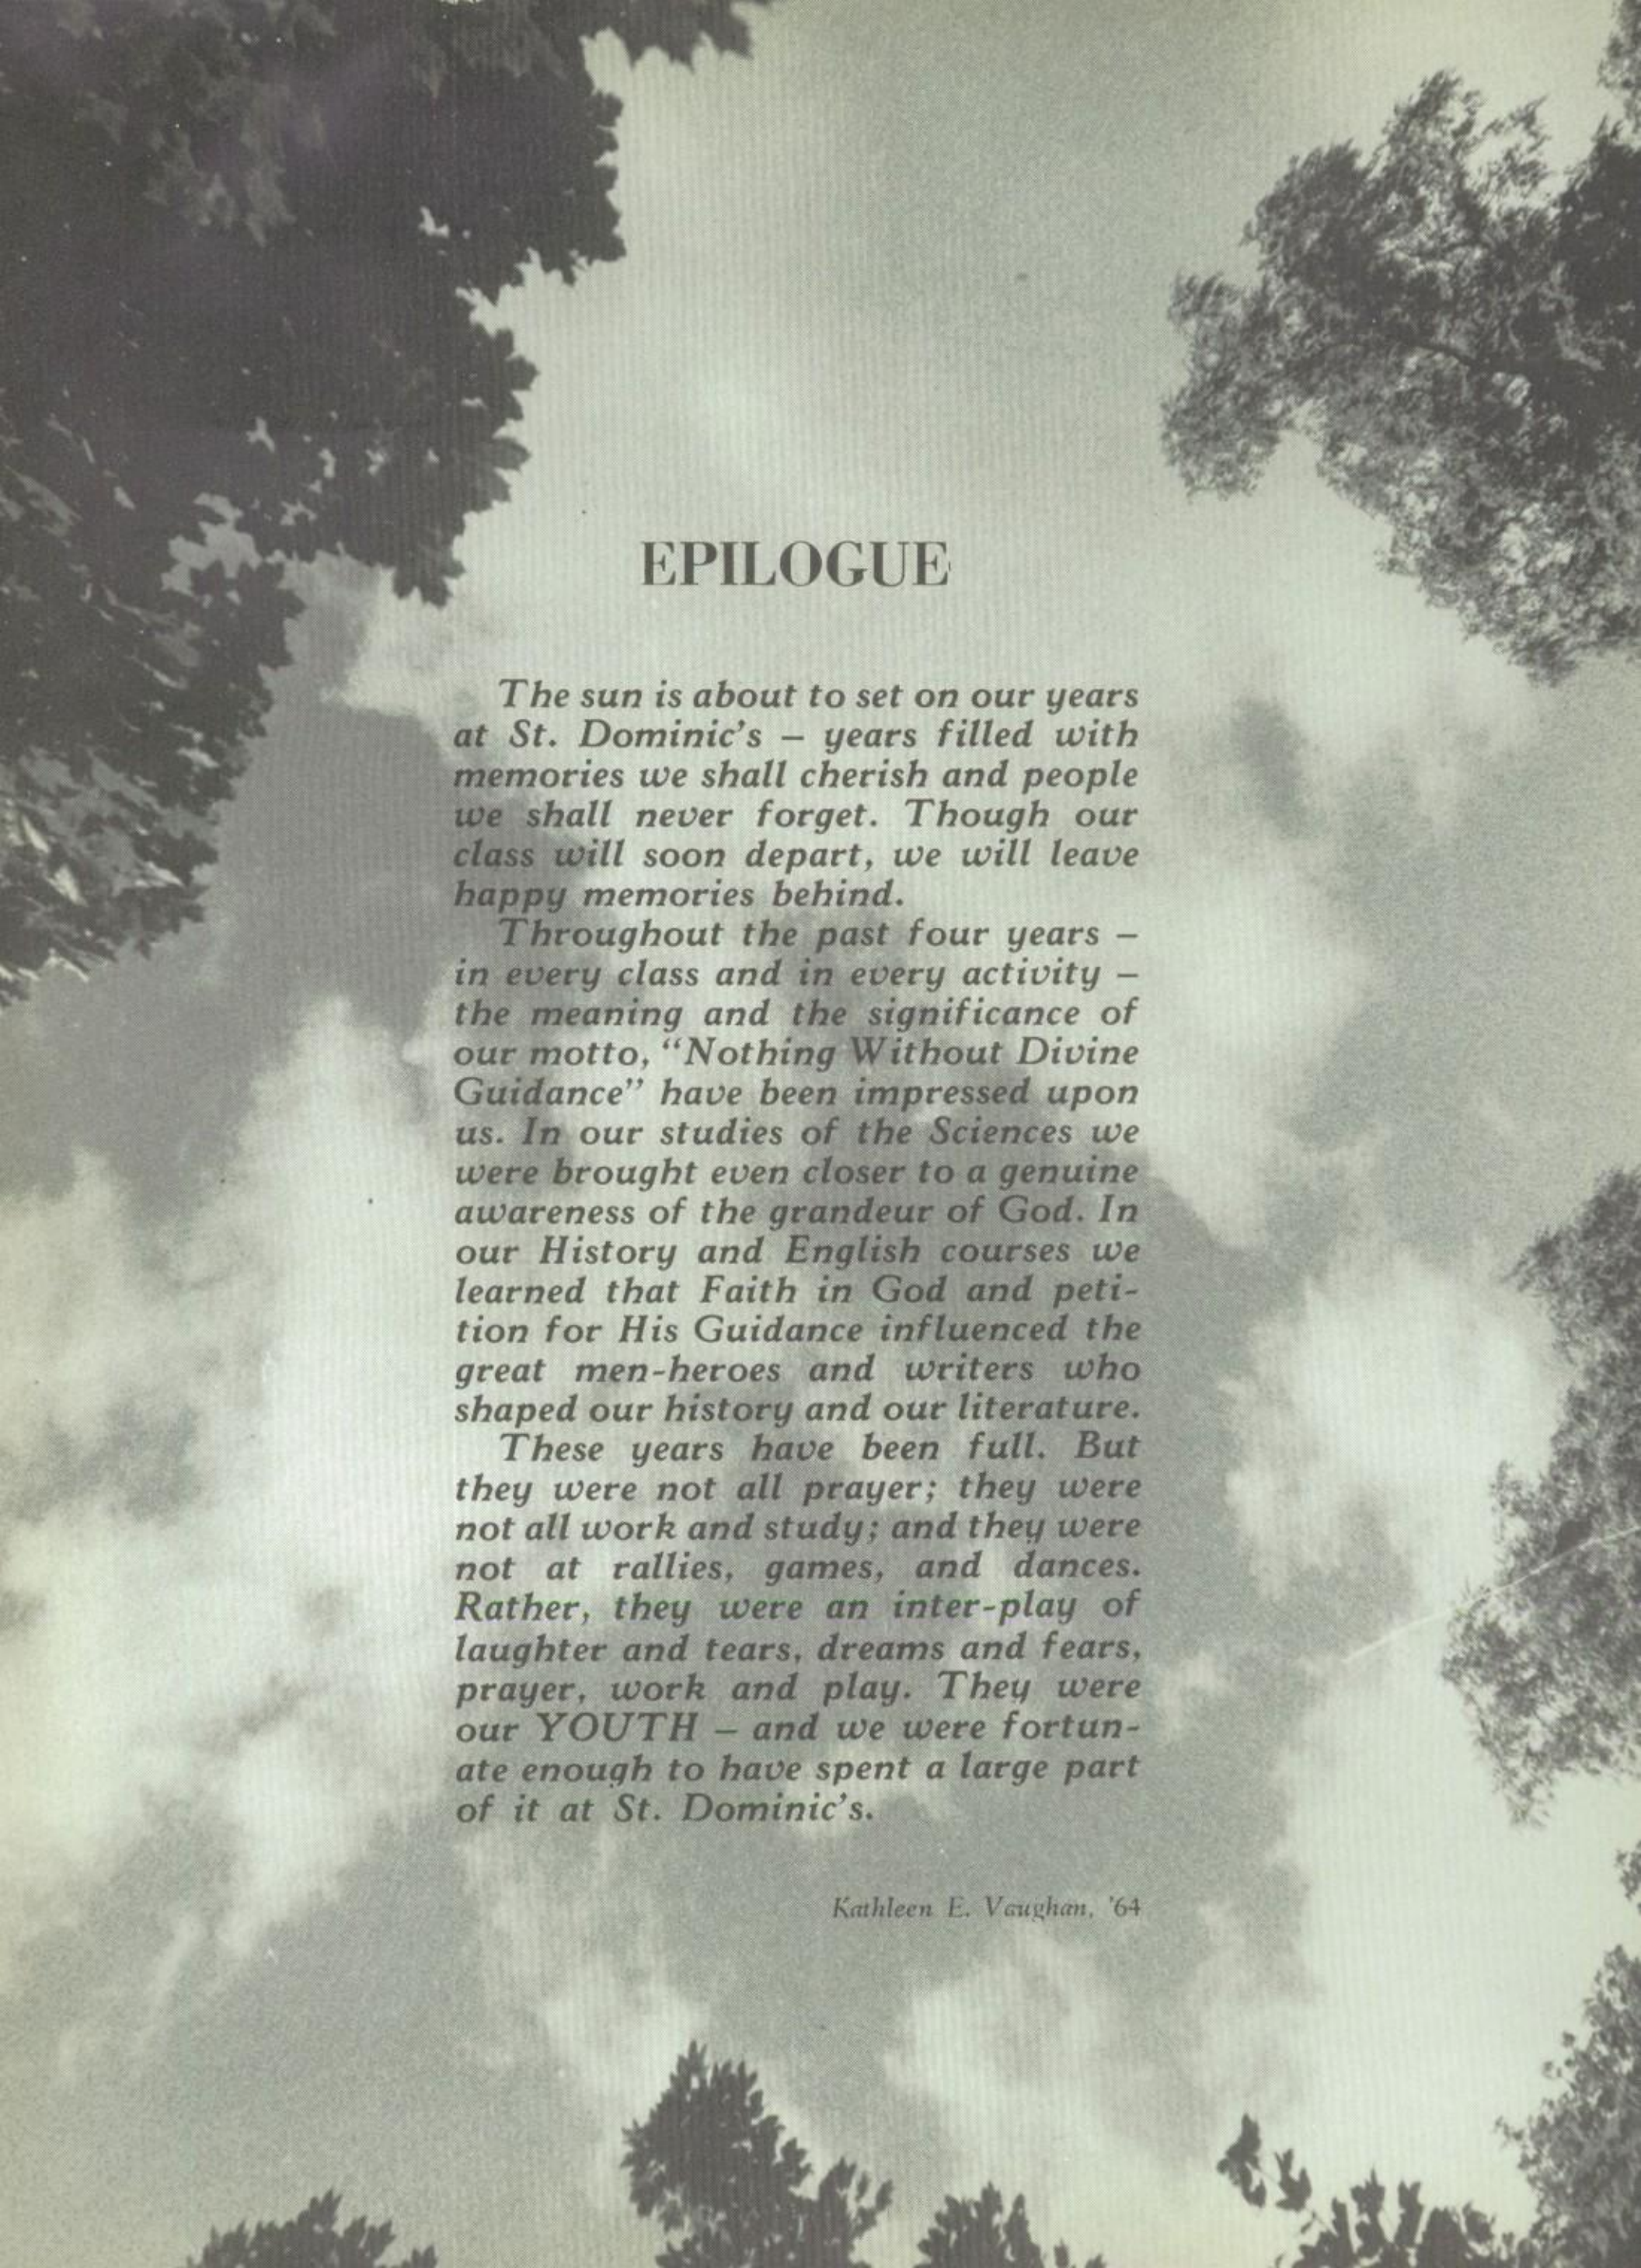

The prize we sought is won!

When we came into the school as Freshmen, we knew that our ultimate goal was graduation. Now that the day is here, we wish it could be delayed another year. As we go our separate ways, we will never forget Saint Dominic's and the mark it left on our lives.

This last procession is not another practice, it is the real thing.

EPILOGUE

The sun is about to set on our years at St. Dominic's – years filled with memories we shall cherish and people we shall never forget. Though our class will soon depart, we will leave happy memories behind.

Throughout the past four years – in every class and in every activity – the meaning and the significance of our motto, "Nothing Without Divine Guidance" have been impressed upon us. In our studies of the Sciences we were brought even closer to a genuine awareness of the grandeur of God. In our History and English courses we learned that Faith in God and petition for His Guidance influenced the great men-heroes and writers who shaped our history and our literature.

These years have been full. But they were not all prayer; they were not all work and study; and they were not at rallies, games, and dances. Rather, they were an inter-play of laughter and tears, dreams and fears, prayer, work and play. They were our YOUTH – and we were fortunate enough to have spent a large part of it at St. Dominic's.

Patricia -

WALNUT 2-4700

Well, another year has come to an end, and I'm certainly happy about a lot of things, one of them, the "great" friendships
we've had over the last year.
There are so many good times
we've had together, travelling across the countryside (no more!) after rehearsals (and during!) our Saturday night dates, our fabulous "boy-friends" (need I name them all?) the Prom (sorry!) and a couple Lizza & Sons, Inc. of other definitely "swingin'" times we have had "together." CONTRACTORS What will you do next year, sweetie, without me? (Or?)

This summer should prove quite interesting - I hope better times are in the future for both of us, but when you look back on the past few months, I don't think we can look forward to as much adventure! No? I won't say remember me - How could you ever forget

OYSTER BAY, N. Y.

Thanks for everything, Pat, especially the many good times.
I hope God will Bless you in your senior year & always.

See you at

Love,
Liz

Selecting a profession or business in which you will devote your life earning a living for yourself, and contributing something in addition to your fellowman, can be a very perplexing problem for students. The management of this bank recommends that you seriously consider the banking business as a vocation that can be challenging, rewarding and satisfying.

Dear Pat,

Well of course I have to start like everybody else - by saying - where should I begin? Before this year I never took the time to get to know you - cause of certain obstacles in the way. This year those obstacles cleared and a friendship that was casual grew to one of the best. So - - - - miss know-it-all that's what I call you - you realized things this year even before me. But then St. Paul the Apostle Parish always did - the year started slow but the play was the greatest thing that happened to me in a long time - thanks to Father Soave and Mrs. Rucci of Serving Jericho - Brookville - Muttontown course your wonderful complementary Daddy! Nellie is a person some people might forget easily but she'll always be remembered by me! I only wish I could lead the life of encouraging loved - and optimistic Nellie all year long - But then I wouldn't be me -

Rev. Daniel J. Potterton,
Pastor

I can't express in words what it means to have someone who understands me like you - you seem to realize better than everybody what goes on here ~~the~~ -

I love them very much but I get awfully lonesome for the old ~~the~~ - this you might not understand but I think it happens to every family that has "growing up" kids in it - some just more than others! That's enough of this I just want you to realize I'm not quite as unappreciative as I may seem -

Compliments of

John J. Cicarelli & Family

Like your Jim I have my Patrick - But I can't help Hillcrest Lane that - so I'll continue on further interest - guess who! (Mr. Yearbook himself - And I don't mean John E.) If I ever get to say two words to him he might faint - Seriously I'm such a chunk - but I'll sit here all night thinking of something else -

I might just add a few things to remember - (over)

I'll never forget -

Sully's car - or your two
And I don't expect you too remember
Latin class - (your long things)

My lovely language THIS " " " (It's not original but it expresses what I feel - words - I don't care - Or I don't give a

Oh and I Father's Club must say (darn) glancing at the back of your head - as I'm you see your hair "very" neat -

"Don't forget our conversation of
"Mr. Yearbook" behind Sister Raphael's back in French - Or

That would be great conversation
but it might set us both into fits

Oh - I'll think of something less exciting

Oh - and don't forget all your invitation in a car - and I didn't say anything about a whole house in it either

And the prom Compliments of - we both looked stunning - even if we had a shitty time
I'm sorry about that but my vocabulary

I feel about the prom -

But let's get serious - I know it's hard - you are one girl I'm glad to have as a good friend and that's putting it mildly - your personality and pretty face can't help but bring you much success - (you'll make a beautiful nun!

*I can't get too serious - I've cried enough for one day - (I forgot to tell you about that) Let's look forward to a full summer
The more we complain the more fun we'll have - always remember Nellie and me, when its convenient

Dear Pat,
It's been wonderful
knowing you this year.
You're one of the sweetest girls I've known, always interested in everyone's problems. Don't ever forget Geometry Class (How could you!)
Love
Danylis

It's really been great this year, especially knowing you! Best.
We'll have even a bigger
riot in homeroom. D.J.
Love always,
Denise

Pat.
Best of luck always to a lot of fun. Have a great summer. See you next year
Love,
Gary

Dear Pat:
Best of luck
luck & laughter to a real great kid
I have fun during the summer.
Sandy

Patty,
Go a really great kid. Don't ever change. Remember that disgusting Latin class and the fun
we had. Love ya,
Kathy

Patty,
Luck always to a great kid always remembers the good times we've had
Love ya,
Kathy
K.

Pat:
my miserable
personality forces
me to scribble
myself but wishes to you
on this page.
Love ya,
Sue

Pat,
To a lucky junior to have a trosh
sign for look!
Good luck next year

Pat,
To a real great kid.
Lots of luck in all your do
John D.
